

ETHICS CODE

General values of the company Targo Promotion Group

„We are ready to follow the values that represent our name. It means that all that we do, we do always fairly, straight and friendly. At work we insist on respecting our general business values.

We exclude all manners of behaviour that could affect our integrity and name, damage our economic growth and could negatively effect the social environment we operate in. Refusing above mentioned practices is the basic value of the mark TARGO PROMOTION”.

General values

- We insist on following the highest ethic and moral standards.
- We respect the law, general human and business values.

Internal and external relationship

- We respect the engagements with our employees, clients, suppliers, competitors and public. We know that fair play is an important condition of successful and continuous cooperation.
- We respect traditions, culture and rules of all countries we operate in.

Protection of information

- We treat all the information and data entrusted to us as strictly confidential.

Personal profit

- Any expedience of our employees or their family members obtained by the activity of our company is legally declared.

Corruption

- We refuse any kind of corruption. We do not accept neither financial donations, valuables, service nor anything that should be considered as a corruption.

Status on the market

With our competitors we fight radically but always fair. We do not damage our competitors' reputation; we do not strive to obtain the information about their business activities dishonestly.
